(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

COMBON, Va., June 9.—Mr. Howard S. Cline, of this place, the leading carpenter in the town, while putting a tin roof on a house yesterday afternoon, slipped some distance and cut one of his arms so severely that a physician, Dr. Minor, had to "take up" and tie a number of arteries in order to check the copious hemorrhages. The huge gash was made by a piece of sharp tin, which did its work as effectively as a sharp-edged tool could have done, severing the tendons as well as the arteries.

Dr. Minor, who cut the artery, lost a good deal of blood before he got in the hands of the doctor.

NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Mayor and Commissioners Must Interpret the Ordinance.

DR. M. P. RUCKER RESIGNS

(Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch.)

Mayor H. A. Matlock and Commissioner of Revenue L. R. Owens were, by resolution of the City Assembly last night, asked to appear before the Ordinance Committee of the Council and interpret the ordinance relating to the tax to be imposed upon butchers and other meat dealers in the city.

Mr. C. Jones, of the "First Ward," offered the resolution, and it is a result of the decision of Mayor Matlock, who is at a fine of $10 upon Butcher-Kahn last week for doing business in the city.

Although Mr. Kahn's taxes, of the amount of license he pays, amounts to $25, and it was alleged that he was not a butcher, but simply a merchant, who handled fresh meats. A license to conduct other kinds of business had been previously granted him by the commission.

The adoption of the Jones resolution last night was due to this decision of the mayor.

In advocating the adoption of the resolution, the councilman from the First Ward took occasion to say that the mayor had misinterpreted the ordinance, as had also the commissioner of revenue, and that both should explain to the committee their views upon the question.

Help for Schools. Mr. R. C. Broadbent, a member of the City School Board, in pursuance to a resolution of the board, addressed the Council for two additional rooms and two extra teachers for next session.

Mr. Alex. Fitzgerald, principal of the school, was present and addressed the board, and the board was ready and eager to go into the hearing of the case. He said that it was an ugly charge, and that the defense not only welcomed a thorough investigation, but demanded such.

Commonwealth continued the case until the 15th, and held Woods and the two Baughmans under bond of $100 each for their appearance. The witnesses for the Commonwealth, among whom were House and Kohler, Special Officers Overton and Ryan, of the Police, and Mr. Fisher, of Manchester, were recognized in the sum of $25 to appear Thursday morning.

Mr. Page Returns. Commonwealth's Attorney Charles L. Page has returned from the Virginia Hospital, where he underwent a very delicate operation. Mr. Page will be ready by the June term of the Corporation Court to go ahead with the cases on the docket.

Old Manchesterian. Mr. Dan Shaw, a very popular young man of the city and one of the best pitchers Manchester has turned out in years, will do the twirling for the Richmond team against the Manchester aggregation in this afternoon at "The Park."

Mr. Shaw and Mr. Bob Knightly, now the catcher for the Richmond team, and secretary for the Twin City League, were the battery for the famous Blue Jeans baseball team of Manchester. Mr. Shaw has been in Salisbury, N. C., several months, and only returned this week. He pitched for Richmond Wednesday and allowed Barton Heights only three scratch hits.

Personal Mention. The White Duck baseball team and the Brooklands, of the Athletic League, will meet this afternoon on the Manchester diamond at the extreme end of the Seventh Street. Both teams are evenly matched, and a good game is expected.

The Beta Chapter of the Standard Bearers of Stockton Street Baptist Church will hold a lawn party on the courthouse grounds, beginning Monday night and continuing through the week.

Mr. Hammond Fisher, inspector for the water commissioners has been visited by police authorities in the city.

Mr. J. P. Fisher, a very popular young man of the city, has been confined to his room for the past several days with sickness.

Dr. T. M. Garnett has been appointed to look after the patients who were thought to be suffering from smallpox on West Seventh Street. It develops that the case is only varioloid.

Mr. W. J. Coleman has returned to his home after a visit to his mother, Mrs. Pollard.

Workmen on Strike. Because of the employment of a non-union workman, sixteen union employees of the Richmond Woodworking Company, whose plant is located on the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, just below Manchester, walked out several days ago, and for the time placed the company to a great disadvantage. A majority of the workmen who quit are residents of New York, and were brought here to do fine work. Seven of the sixteen left yesterday. The plant is still in operation and men are being placed in the places of those who quit on account of the employment of one who is said to be refused to become a member of the union.

The Smith Case. Judge William I. Clifton, of the Corporation Court of the city, declined to allow a physician, sent by Attorneys E. H. Wells, of Manchester, and Harry Smith, of Richmond, counsel for Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Smith, now confined in the city jail upon charges of murdering their child, to visit Mrs. Smith, except when with the regular jail physician, and as a result a good deal of additional interest was injected into the case this week.
